Health Plan Members can also download the My Health Toolkit app for a digital ID card on their phone with easy access to claims, benefits and a provider search feature as well!

Important Reminder:

Over Age Dependent Terminations occur at the end of the calendar year

Under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA), a dependent child(ren), regardless of financial, academic, residential, marital or employment status is eligible for benefits under your medical plan. Under the ICUBA Medical Plan, coverage for an overage dependent terminates on the last day of the calendar year in which your child turns 26 years of age. If your dependent turned 26 during the 2019 calendar year, he/she will be terminated from the ICUBA plan effective December 31, 2019. Your child(ren) will be given the option to elect COBRA (for up to 36 months) or they may look for a replacement exchange policy at http://GetInsured.com/ICUBA.

Please note: Disabled dependent child(ren) may be eligible for coverage after age 26 with appropriate documentation.

If you have additional questions, please contact your HR department. You may also contact ICUBA Benefits Administration at 1-866-377-5102 or email us at benefitsadministration@icuba.org.

5 Ways to Stay Healthy Through Cold and Flu Season

As the temperatures drop and the days get shorter, it's time to look forward to the upcoming winter season, which means cozy nights spent indoors with family and friends, and festive nights toasting the season. But while the chill in the air makes a night in front of the fireplace seem doubly inviting, it also signifies the approach of another, less joyful season: cold and flu season.

To stay healthy this season, it helps to start healthy by building up your immune system. Makes sense, but … what exactly does that mean? (Hint: Popping a multivitamin isn't going to cut it.) Instead, consider a whole-body approach to wellness. Your body is a system, not a single organ. And as a result, you need to take care of all parts of it. A holistic approach includes eating a healthy diet, getting enough sleep, exercising, managing stress—and washing your hands frequently to stay ahead of nasty germs.

A good way to know you're on track is if you and a friend both sit next to the same sneezing, wheezing person and your buddy gets sick—but you don't. That's the sign of an immune system that's doing exactly what it's supposed to do.
